Check out the link below for a tutorial on how to use autodesk accounts How to Use Acrobat Account System If you want to use a trial account, you can use this. Optimization of a 20-electrode Ag/AgCl reference electrode for in vivo electroencephalogram recording. This paper presents a new electrode configuration consisting of a 20-electrode (5-mm diameter) reference electrode composed of Ag/AgCl wires embedded in porous plastic. The electrodes are implanted in the skull over the frontal cortex of a decerebrate, chloralose-anesthetized cat. The electrode impedances are measured at 1, 10, 100, and 1000 Hz, and the impedance spectrum is plotted as a function of the position along the electrode. The result shows a smooth, evenly distributed impedance with a median value of 6.2 k Ω at 1 Hz. The impedance at 1000 Hz is about twice that at 1 Hz, which is in accordance with the theoretical impedance between the brain tissue and the reference electrode. The short-circuit current is a function of the electrode's distance to the skull, with a maximum of -0.75 mA/cm² at 2.5 mm, which is a relatively large current compared to other available electrodes. This electrode allows long-term recordings with a minimal influence of electrode movements and considerable flexibility when positioning the electrode within the brain. John J. Simon John Joseph Simon (born 1938) is a Canadian businessman and former politician who served as a Conservative Member of Parliament (MP) from 1988 to 2015. He was re-elected in the 2004 election, after having lost in the 1990 election. Born in Toronto, Simon was educated at St. Michael's College, Toronto, and received a B.S. in Electrical Engineering from the University of Toronto in 1960. He served as a Conservative Party of Canada councillor for Toronto Centre Ward. 82157476af
